

Ice Carnival Saturday Most Successful Ever

The Drayton Valley and District Centennial Arena was packed Saturday evening for the most successful ice carnival ever staged here. Paid attendance for the evening performance was 750, while the matinee drew a crowd of 484.

Highlight of the evening performance was the crowning of Miss Sherrill Timmins as Centennial Queen by last year's carnival Queen, Miss Valerie Krause. Miss Timmins will represent the community in her role as Centennial Queen at a variety of activities during the year.

Other candidates in the queen contest were Diane Frescher, Drayton Valley, Adeline Negraiff, Lodgepole, Donna Jouan, Tomahawk, Cheryl Lee, Lodgepole and Margaret McCullagh, Drayton Valley.

The Queen contest decision was arrived at by judging on three categories. The girls attended last week's Rotary meeting where they gave short speeches and were judged on the speech delivery and poise. Ticket sales accounted for the remainder of the points.

Close to 100 skaters, members of the Drayton Valley Figure Skating Club, took part in the show. Also appearing on the program were guest skaters from Edmonton.

Mayor Howard Pickup welcomed spectators to the show which was M.C.'d by Rick Simon. Jack Bright, Rotary president, conducted the Queen crowning ceremony.

Lucky ticket holder on the draw for an electrical appliance was Dick Reisterer.

Added attractions were chuckwagon races during intermission with members of minor hockey teams taking part. A broom ball game between Goliad and Mobil Oil ended the program.

Barney McGlone New President Tourist Group

Barney McGlone of Drayton Valley was elected president of the Evergreen Tourist Association at a meeting here Monday, April 3rd.

Other officers elected were: 1st vice-president, Louis Hedberg, Devon; and 2nd vice-president, Dexter Champion, Hinton. Directors elected are Vince Campbell, Alberta Beach; Grant Dodd, Devon; John Throup, Hinton; Bill Johanneson, Drayton Valley; and John Keeler, Hinton. Secretary-Treasurer is John Scott of Edson.

Representatives from Hinton, Edson, Alberta Beach, Devon, Robb and Drayton Valley attended the meeting.

A meeting of directors was planned for Monday, April 10th at Wildwood to get production of a brochure dealing with tourist attractions of the area under way as soon as possible.

Rebel Victory Saturday Brings League Title Here

With a 5-3 win over Hinton Hawks at Hinton Saturday evening, Drayton Valley Rebels completed a three-game sweep of the final series to win the N.W.H.L. championship.

Rebels won the first two games here the previous weekend by scores of 9-4 and 11-4.

League president Mike Buga of Jasper presented the Calgary Brewing and Malting Trophy to Rebel Captain Ron Hemmingway during a Sunday afternoon exhibition game at Hinton. In the Sunday encounter the Rebels again defeated the Hawks by a score of 9-7.

The final game of the season Saturday evening provided spectators with a fine brand of fast hockey. Hall led the Rebel scorers with two goals, followed by Dea, Hemmingway and Pankewicz with singles.

Hinton goal scorers were Iskew, Gamache and Malinski.

Medical Conference Held Here

Drayton Valley Municipal Hospital was the scene of the third and final regional medical conference of the season on Wednesday, April 12.

Topic was general medicine with emphasis on cardiology, and speakers were Dr. G. Bell and Dr. W.R. Black, both specialists in internal medicine at the University of Alberta.

The conferences are sponsored by the Department of Continuing Medical Education of the University of Alberta, in Edmonton, as part of a program to provide practicing doctors with information about new developments that may assist them in their work.

Baton Lessons Proposed

Mrs. Eileen Dodds of the Eileen Dodds School of Dancing will be here next Monday at 3:00 p.m. at the Civic Arena to register anyone interested in baton lessons. For further information phone Mrs. F. Neil at 542-4138.

SUPPORT OF ACTIVE MEMBERS REQUIRED

Flying Club Faces Prospect of Disbanding

The Drayton Valley Flying Club will hold a meeting at 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday, April 18th in the basement of the Town Hall to decide the future of the club.

The Club seeks the whole hearted support and co-operation of all past members, present members and all other persons interested in flying.

The Drayton Valley Flying Club is presently financially sound, but is desperately in need of more member support. The Club has been fighting for survival for the past couple of years, with active support from only a few members. To survive and carry on as an active organization, more support is needed.

The situation is critical. Without more interest and support, we will be forced to surrender the Club's charter and the Drayton Valley Flying Club will cease to exist.

It is pointed out to all interested persons, that the function and purpose of the club is to promote all aspects of aviation in this area and to create interest in aviation, planes and flying.

Any and all interested persons are cordially invited to attend.

Alder Flats Plans Centennial Event

On Monday, April 3rd, plans were finalized for the celebrations to take place at the first night's stop of the Centennial Voyageur Canoe Pageant. The Voyageurs are expected to arrive at their first campsite, a Forestry Air Strip 10 miles west of the community of Alder Flats, about 6:30 p.m. on May 24th.

The people of Alder Flats district are planning to welcome the paddlers with a free barbecued beef supper to be followed by live entertainment and an open air dance at the campsite. However, the festivities are expected to begin at the "first campsite" much earlier in the day with prizes given for a 12 mile "Pony Express" race, Children's Horse Races and athletic events, a log sawing contest, a horse shoe tournament, novelty races, a tug of war, and many other events that will reflect the gaieties of 100 years ago.

When the Alder Flats stop was first mentioned it was presumed that, because of the size of the hamlet (pop. about 150), the Voyageurs' first night out would be spent in their own company. Upon hearing this the people of Alder Flats got together and organized the "Alder Flats Centennial Voyageur Canoe Pageant". They plan to make the "first camp" for the Voyageurs from ten provinces and territories a camp that will be remembered long after the paddlers reach Montreal next September.

Roads leading from Alder Flats to the campsite will be put into shape, signs will direct motorists, and camping space will be provided for the many people from surrounding communities who intend to spend the night with the Voyageurs.

The purpose of the festivities on May 24th is to welcome the Voyageurs and to recognize Canada's 100th year as a nation. The people of Alder Flats plan on handling a crowd of from 800 to 1000 people but they won't be taken by surprise if the Voyageurs and the other events of the day attract more.

The only charge for people attending the celebration will be for food and the dance. A warm invitation is extended to everyone who would like to be a part of the "first camp" of the Centennial Voyageur Canoe Pageant.

Former Resident Passes in U.S.

Mrs. Sarah Louise Davis, 72, a former resident of Drayton Valley, passed away March 19th at Loma Linda Hospital in California after a lengthy illness. Mrs. Davis, who was born in Ireland and was an old time resident of this area, had lived in Cathedral City, California for the past 18 years.

Funeral services were held at Wiefels and Son Chapel in Palm Springs and interment took place in Desert Memorial Park, Palm Springs.

When a diner complained that he could not eat the soup that had been brought him, the waiter called the manager. "I'm very sorry, sir" said the manager, "I'll call the chef."

When the chef arrived, the diner still insisted that he couldn't eat his soup.

"What's wrong with it?" demanded the chef.

"Nothing" calmly answered the diner. "I just don't have a spoon."

J. R. Gylander Leduc County Agriculturist Transferred

The district agriculturist at Leduc, Jim R. Gylander, has been appointed to a new position with the Alberta Department of Agriculture as supervisor of municipal agricultural programs in the Program Development Division.

In his new position, Mr. Gylander will administrate the planning, development and co-ordination of programs and policies of the Alberta Department of Agriculture in accordance with the Agricultural Services Board Act.

Agreements between counties, municipalities or improvement districts and the minister of agriculture will be arranged annually, compiling the programs of each departmental division that relates to municipal activity.

A native of Alberta, Mr. Gylander graduated from the University of Alberta in agriculture in 1943. He was employed briefly with the field crops branch of the provincial agriculture department and later transferred to the extension branch. After three years service with agricultural statistics, he moved to Lethbridge as assistant district agriculturist for a two-year period.

Mr. Gylander was transferred to Leduc in 1950 as district agriculturist and has served there since.

Beef Feeders Tour Still Has Few Vacancies

Fifteen more people are still required to complete the Beef Feeders Tour of Eastern Canada from April 23rd to May 2nd.

The group will fly to Windsor and then visit various beef operations in Ontario and Quebec by bus. Among those who have expressed interest in the tour is Lawrence A. Sharkey of Drayton Valley.

Anyone else interested is asked to contact Calgary Power Ltd., in Calgary.

Redwater Selected for New Plant

Imperial Oil will build fertilizer manufacturing facilities seven miles south of Redwater, Alberta, costing in excess of $50,000,000, the company announced recently.

Construction of the facilities on an 800 acre site on the North Saskatchewan River will begin this spring with completion expected in 1969. At the peak of construction in 1968, the work force will reach the 1,100 to 1,500 level. When completed, the facilities will give employment to more than 300.

The facilities will have a capacity in excess of half a million tons annually of nitrogenous and phosphatic fertilizers, part of it for export to the United States. Natural gas and sulphur, two key raw materials will come from Alberta.

Overall engineering management has been awarded to Canadian Bechtel Ltd.

Imperial sells a full range of fertilizers, under the Brand name of Engro. The fertilizer will be handled by a $7,000,000 network of more than 400 warehouses which the company has been building across the prairie provinces since it first began selling Engro in 1964.

The announcement of the facilities follows more than two year's work involving market research, plant design and economic feasibility.

DISTRICT NEWS

BERRYMOOR

Mrs. Bea Cropley,
Correspondent

We were very interested to get news of our boys who left on the 20th of February to join the Navy. They are stationed at Cornwallis, Nova Scotia. Bryan Barrett has gained eight pounds and Dennis Schwartz has gained ten. They are enjoying competing in broom ball, bowling, wrestling, etc.

Don Martin has just arrived back from a trip to B.C. He took his wife Isobel, her sister Calla Pishke, and her mother Mrs. Olga Lindell to visit another sister Mrs. Christina Neff of Prince George. Christina has been very ill but is well on the road to recovery. Don also took his mother, Mrs. Mae Martin to visit her sister, and friends in Williams Lake. The car broke down on the return journey so the party arrived home late by bus.

Deepest sympathy is extended to the Jergeson family in their recent bereavement. Mr. Jergeson Senior passed away in his home in Warburg after a lengthy illness. Mrs. Anderson spent the last few weeks with her sister helping to nurse Mr. Jergeson. The funeral was held in the Lindale Hall and he was laid to rest in the cemetery there.

Fourteen women attended a liquid embroidery tea at the home of Mrs. Hattie Barrett on the afternoon of the fourth with Mrs. Dorothy Wedman from Tomahawk as demonstrator. The women were each given a block to do and were given advice and instruction as they worked. The next tea will be held at Dorothy Gavigan's on the afternoon of the 20th.

The district extends congratulations to the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Tweedle (nee Ethel Wideman) who were united in marriage on the first of April, in the brides home by the bride's uncle, Rev. Willie Annett.

Many friends attended the open house from seven to ten. The happy couple received many lovely gifts. The next day they left for Peace River where they are both employed.

The last W.A. meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Muriel Campbell on the evening of Tuesday the fourth. The ladies are planning on making a quilt for sale.

On Wednesday the fifth, some women gathered at Beth Holmgren's for a quilting bee. One quilt was finished that day and one the next. Beth tells us she will soon have everything ready for two more quilts. It seems she is planning on keeping us busy.

Mrs. Barrett reports a good time on her recent holiday in B.C. She missed quite a bit of our frosty weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Campbell and family of Williams Lake visited friends and relatives in the district during the Easter holidays.

Cadets Visit Namao Base

Fourteen cadets from Drayton Valley 733 squadron were bused into Edmonton on April 11th for a ride in a Hercules aircraft. About 100 cadets were present from other neighboring squadrons.

Two cadets flew to Edmonton in a plane piloted by F/O John Bootsma and exchanged with two others for the return trip.

After their ride in the Hercules the cadets were shown through the plane and toured the RCAF survival school and the meteorology section. They were guests for lunch in the mess hall at Namao Air Base.

SMOOTH-BREWED IN ALBERTA BY MOLSON'S

In The Legislature

By Mrs. C. R. Wood, M.L.A.

On Friday afternoon of the ninth week in the Legislature, discussion started on the motion asking that Garth Turcott (NDP Pincher Creek-Crownest) file with Mr. Speaker within 48 hours, all specific charges against Hon. A.J. Hooke, Minister of Municipal Affairs and E.W. Hinman (S.C. Cardston) former Provincial Treasurer, together with evidence justifying such charges.

Our Alberta Heritage

ELK ISLAND NATIONAL PARK - HOME OF THE BUFFALO!

One of North America's few remaining buffalo herds can be found 30 miles east of Edmonton in Elk Island National Park. It is estimated that now there are more than ten thousand of these great beasts in the park. This is a surprising figure, considering that the last wild survivors — a group of eleven — were all that remained in Alberta in 1880.

The herd at Elk Island is reputed to be the finest of its type in the world. Yearly, thousands of tourists visit the park in hope of catching a glimpse of the herd. It's another "feather-in-the-cap for our province — that Albertans saw the danger of extinction and took steps to preserve the buffalo. All Albertans can be proud that Alberta is "home" to thousands of buffalo that might never have been.

Box 1900, Calgary — who will be pleased to send on request a copy of "Our Alberta Heritage"

Premier Manning said that Mr. Turcott had based his charges on newspaper clippings most of the news stories being statements made by the Leader of the NDP party and stated "This is a despicable type of character assassination." He dwelt on the material filed and again stated that no wrong-doing had been proven by it. He said, "If Mr. Turcott has charges it is the fair and decent thing to bring them and if he cannot do this, the only honorable thing for him to do is to cease from maligning names of Honorable Members of the Legislature."

Mr. Turcott urged the Premier to cite a specific case of his impropriety, stating the matter was "the epitome of arrogance" and an example of "Uncontrolled power gone wild". He reviewed the statements he had filed and asked until Tuesday to make further filing. This was refused and he asked to play a tape recording. This too, was refused and the tape recorder ordered from the Assembly.

The motion was put to the Assembly and Turcott asked to make an amendment for extension until Tuesday--another unconstitutional move. On the motion, 54 members stood for it and one (Turcott) against it.

The members then settled down to giving third reading to 20 Bills and the Session adjourned.

On Monday afternoon, with galleries filled, Mr. Speaker announced that the charges and documents asked of Mr. Turcott had been duly filed. Just 10 minutes before 2:00 p.m. the charges against Mr. Hooke and Mr. Hinman were laid with an added charge against Mr. Hinman. It was that knowingly and deliberately misleading the Honorable Members of the House, he falsely disclaimed any involvement in the affairs of the Edmonton Airport Hotel Co. Ltd. and Alberta West Products Corporation Ltd. The fourth charge was against the Premier stating that he had wilfully and improperly questioned Mr. Turcott's integrity and implied and insinuated wrong doing without presenting specific charges supported by evidence.

Mr. Speaker was asked to get copies of all charges and documents made for each Honorable Member and after consideration of them, appropriate action would be taken.

The House spent the remainder of the afternoon and night Session in the study of Bills. One of these, Bill 43 amending the Public Health Act providing for rigid control over drugs, especially LSD, came in for lengthy discussion. By the Bill no person in Alberta shall manufacture, sell, give or otherwise distribute LSD unless under a duly qualified medical practitioner for research purposes. Heavy fines and imprisonment may be imposed on any one contravening the act.

Tuesday afternoon the Premier gave notice of motion that when the charges and documents submitted by G. Turcott NDP (Pincher Creek-Crownest) had been studied, the matter would be dealt with in appropriate manner.

Wednesday morning the Committee of the Whole Assembly began the study of Bill 50--the New Municipal Act. Briefs from Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge, and Red Deer councils and the Lawyer for the Union of Municipalities were heard and one verbal hearing from the Union of Summer Villages. All voiced objection to the new sections relating to the Municipal Appeal Tribunal which speakers termed "All-powerful above the elected councils with no appeal from it." Some expressed the thought that it was not feasible to try to unite all municipalities under one set of rules and make it workable for all. All asked for more time to more fully study the Act and all its ramifications. The Act will be held over for a year for this to be done.

At the Wednesday evening Session, the Honorable Members heard Stan Ross and W. Isbister give the background in 800 hours of study and work which merged The City Act, Town and Village Act, Municipal Act and Improvement Act into one uniform Municipal Act with eleven separate headings and 658 sections, getting rid of multiplicity in legislation and giving each municipality the power to carry out its work. In dealing with the Municipal Appeal Tribunal, Mr. Ross stated that the B.N.A. Act gave the Provinces charge over municipalities and until that Act is changed, the Province is responsible over them and if anything is done in a municipality that harms the people, the Provincial Government is to blame. In Alberta, the Provincial Government looked after the Municipal governing bodies through ministerial control. This was gradually withdrawn and separate legislation with amendments was passed allowing appeals to be made to the Courts.

Mr. Ross related many cases of individuals suffering injustices with no redress and this Municipal Appeal Tribunal is designed to be of some protection to individuals.

their home on Vancouver Island for the occasion. Their wedding gift to the couple was a quilt, in the bow tie pattern which Mrs. Margaret Berry made.

Specialist Urges Forage Seeding

LETHBRIDGE--Alec Johnston, Range Management Specialist at the CDA's Research Station here says:

"We should be seeding about a million acres of forage crops per year in western Canada. Instead the acreage is closer to 300,000."

In Alberta, only about 8 per cent of the land used for grazing is classed as "cultivated pasture" says Mr. Johnston. The rest is native rangeland and stubble. The native rangeland is fully stocked and has been for years.

To meet the forecast demands for beef, we must take advantage of the increased yields that are possible through seeding cultivated grass-legume pasture and hay mixtures.

What increases may we expect?

Johnston says pasture research at Manyberries has shown that, in that area, crested wheatgrass will produce 2.2 and Russian wild ryegrass 3.6 times as much grazing as native range. In the foothills, where native grasslands produce better because of more rainfall, the difference is not as great. But you can still expect a cultivated grass-legume to produce twice as much forage as would the native range.

The poplar-covered lands of western and northern Alberta are low in carrying capacity and poor forage producers. Clearing of the tree growth and reseeded to cultivated grass-legume mixtures may increase forage production five to ten times.

How long will seeded stands last?

On the dry plains, the answer seems to be: Forever. Johnston says: We have observed stands seeded in 1928 that produced their biggest crop in 1965-66. Crested wheatgrass and Russian wild ryegrass appear to become a permanent part of the plains vegetation and their yield depends mostly upon current rainfall.

In the foothills seeded stands have a shorter life. Better moisture permits greater invasion by undesirable species. The life of the stand depends mostly on the kind of forage crop seeded, but the livestock owner should take a good look at fields that have been in about 15 years.

It is even tougher to maintain stands where trees were the original cover. Nature tries to put trees back on the land and the livestock owner must work to keep them under control. He should kill as much of the woody growth as he can at the time he makes the original seeding. Then to keep down regrowth, he should graze slightly on the heavy side.

A gentleman slipped on the stair of a subway and started to slide down to the bottom. Halfway down he collided with a lady, knocking her down, and the two continued their way together.

After they had reached the bottom, the lady, still dazed, continued to sit on the gentleman's chest. Looking up at her he said politely:

"I'm sorry, madam, but this is as far as I go."

Agriculture Dept. Guards Against Pest Introduction

OTTAWA--The introduction to this country of crop and animal diseases and insect pests from abroad could have a disastrous effect on Canadian agriculture and forestry. Not only could such unwelcome arrivals reduce the country's livestock and crop production but their entry could affect our export markets.

The federal Destructive Insect and Pest Act provides the regulatory framework for the protective measures carried out by the Plant Protection Division of the Canada Department of Agriculture, while the department's Health of Animals Branch administers the regulations under the Animal Contagious Diseases Act.

All plant material imported for planting is required to be certified free of infestation by qualified people in the country of origin before it is shipped to Canada. The Canadian importing firm must also get a permit to bring in such material. If it is shipped by sea as it is in most instances, the material must enter through one of the designated coastal, St. Lawrence or Great Lakes ports. (If the material is sent by air, it must enter through one of the international airports where inspection facilities are established).

All incoming plant material and some plant products--broom corn, dried fruits, nuts, and coffee and cocoa beans, for example--must be inspected before being released to the importers. In most cases they are inspected at the port but in some instances the material may be allowed to proceed to its final destination provided the latter is in an area where inspection services are available.

A shipment found to be infested may be sprayed or fumigated or, if treatment is not deemed practical, the plant material will be destroyed or returned to the shipper, depending on the importer's decision.

Plant Protection inspectors are alert for other ways insects and diseases may reach Canada. Used bagging, for example, may harbor disease-causing organisms and must be fumigated before being released. Clinging soil is another way by which these organisms or insects may be transmitted. For this reason, used cars and farm machinery from all countries other than the United States must be washed down thoroughly before being allowed into Canada.

The division's inspectors play an important role in maintaining Canada's international reputation for clean produce. All plant material must be examined and certified free of infestation before leaving the country and all flour mills, port terminal elevators and storages handling grain or flour for export are inspected regularly and are required to be clean and free of insects and mites. Vessels used for winter storage of grain must also undergo inspection in the fall.

All ships loading Canadian grain and cereal products for overseas delivery must be inspected before taking on their cargoes to ensure they are free of pests of stored grain and extraneous matter such as scale or oil residues that could taint the cargo. This measure was introduced in 1940 by Canada to protect our grain shipments from becoming infested with pests that survived in food debris left from previous cargoes in uncleaned crevices in the holds. The problem was greatest with vessels that previously had carried grain from warmer areas or had transported cargoes of tropical produce such as copra, peanuts, and spices.

A ship is not permitted to load grain if inspection of the holds reveals unsatisfactory conditions, and permission is withheld until they are remedied. In most cases it is a matter of a thorough cleaning, though spraying or even fumigation may be needed in others. Fumigation is required when infestation is severe and widespread in the holds.

Unlike the situation when the measure was introduced, most ships today require no clean-up or pest control treatment. Of the 2,324 ships inspected at stock to prevent the introduction of diseases and pests into the agricultural industry.

Canadian ports in a recent 12-month period, 444 required cleaning only before loading, 167 required spraying, and 105 had to be fumigated.

Equally effective safeguards have been established by CDA's Health of Animals Branch to prevent livestock diseases, particularly those like foot-and-mouth from which Canada is free, from being carried into the country by livestock arriving by sea or air.

Because of the danger of disease, livestock imports from many countries are still prohibited. But even where imports are allowed, the livestock must pass stringent testing. Imported cattle, for example, must be tested and certified healthy by an official veterinarian of the country of origin. On arrival at a designated Canadian port, they are removed from the ship under the supervision of a federal veterinarian and taken to the port quarantine station to undergo further tests and to begin a quarantine period of 30 or 90 days, depending on the country of origin. As with plant material, a permit is required to import livestock.

Manure, straw, and unused hay, possible sources of contamination, must be removed from the ships and destroyed under the supervision of a federal veterinarian inspector.

Garbage from foreign vessels and uncooked meats carried by the ships are two other ways in which animal diseases could be brought to Canada if it were not for stringent measures provided under the Animal Contagious Diseases Act and enforced by Health of Animals Branch inspectors.

Uncooked meats pose a danger because they may contain organisms that cause animal diseases like foot-and-mouth. Canada prohibits the importation of all meats and meat products, other than those that are cooked and canned, from countries where serious diseases of animals exist. The safeguard is extended to foreign vessels from risk areas--all meats, except for those that are cooked and canned, must be kept in sealed lockers while the ships are in Canadian waters. The alternative is to have their meat supplies confiscated and destroyed without compensation.

Federal regulations, in addition, prohibit the dumping overboard of garbage from foreign vessels while they are in Canadian ports. Removal of refuse may only be done at one of the designated coastal, St. Lawrence, or Great Lakes ports where incineration facilities are available.

Canadian law is explicit on how the garbage is to be removed from a ship--it must be taken off in closed, leak-proof metal containers and can only be brought ashore under the supervision of a federal inspector. The containers, after being emptied, must be thoroughly cleaned.

The measures carried out by CDA's Health of Animals Branch and the Plant Protection Division are vital to the protection of Canadian agriculture from costly losses caused by pests and disease. Freedom from these problems, too, is important in keeping overseas doors open to Canadian exports.

Ottawa Survey Indicates 1967 Capital Outlay of $15,103 Million

THE WESTERN REVIEW - Drayton Valley, Alberta - April 12, 1967 - Page 13

OTTAWA--Capital expenditure plans for all sectors of the Canadian economy involve outlays of $15,103 million in 1967. This compares with actual capital expenditures of $14,897 million in 1966 and represents a levelling off from the sharp upward trend of the preceding three years.

Outlays for new construction are expected to rise by one per cent to $9,455 million and those for machinery and equipment by two per cent to $5,648 million.

Trade and Commerce Minister Winters recently tabled in the House of Commons a report "Private and Public Investment in Canada, Outlook 1967", summarizing results of the government's annual survey of capital spending intentions.

Mr. Winters stated that within the business sector, the report indicates capital expenditures by manufacturing industries will decline to $2,498 million from $2,803 million in 1966.

With the completion of Expo 67, a significant drop is predicted in capital spending for related projects in the transportation and commercial building fields. In most other areas of business, investment is likely to be maintained or increased this year. The most important growth is expected in electric power facilities and in communications. Power companies plan a $150 million increase in spending and telephone companies an additional $65 million.

Expenditures for social capital facilities, exclusive of housing, are expected to increase nearly $235 million in 1967. This reflects greatly expanded programs for the building of new educational and hospital facilities, up 30 per cent and 15 per cent respectively. Outlays for housing will probably remain relatively unchanged from last year. While the number of new units started is expected to increase sharply, completions will be less than in 1966.

The report also provides information on spending intentions in individual provinces and major metropolitan areas.

The trend in capital spending from last year is expected to vary considerably among the five major regions ranging from declines to five per cent (Quebec) and three per cent (British Columbia) to increases of three per cent in Ontario, six per cent in the Atlantic Provinces and seven per cent in the Prairies.

Mr. Winters concluded that the indicated moderating trend of capital spending will ease the pressure on investment resources which have been under considerable strain as a result of the sharp growth rate in capital outlays in recent years. At the same time, he said, the proportion of the economy's productive resources being devoted to capital investment remains high, entailing a further substantial net addition to Canada's productive capacity.

Bertie Beaver, who has been working for the Alberta Forest Service of the Alberta Department of Lands and Forests since 1958, will appear on major highway signs in the forested areas of Alberta in 1967. Bertie, designed by the late Walt Disney as a contribution to the Alberta Government, has been featured on many fire prevention posters. Now, in large scale, he will caution motorists to "Keep Alberta Green" on reflectorized 4 by 7-foot signs, prepared by the Department of Lands and Forests and erected by the Department of Highways.

Think Spring and translate into raincoats. Presto! The pretty posy look to chase away those rainy-day blues. Dainty flowers, pale pastels, bold stripes and wild checks bedeck vinyl, plastic-coated cotton, slickered silk and water-proofed blends. Sew a chic trench-coat spattered with daisies and spray on silicone waterproofing or cover with crystal-clear vinyl (treat the two fabrics as one throughout construction).

Silk thread for basting is less likely to leave marks on precious velvets, silks and delicate fabrics.

Use a canopener? The era of the "Canned" dress is here! Ban-lon jersies in gay Pucci-prints pop out of their can with nary a wrinkle. There's even room for a hat to match. Four different styles and a multitude of wonderful colours so far. Dandy traveller and a fun gift!

Add or subtract a few pounds often? Instead of waistbands on knit skirts, insert elastic webbing in a casing at the skirt top. Shrinks or stretches as needed without alterations.

Clothes are worn to look attractive, to keep warm and to express your personality. We all strive towards an ideal, but the ideals vary according to our personality -- delicate, mysterious, exotic, chic, wholesome. If you let a friend influence you to buy a dress that is not "you", you'll never feel comfortable in it. It'll be another mistake in your closet.

Scallops on hem and sleeves spell feminine flare for a simple "skimpy". Make one up, using scallops on full bell sleeves in a lusciously lovely tint of misty lavender. Fashion creamy wool into a lean little suit closed with scallops centred with bone buttons. Cut a cardboard guide to follow as you stitch the scallops. Take one horizontal stitch at the points to make the turn smooth and pucker-free.
